

The Routledge Water Diplomacy Handbook

February Meeting

2022.02.08

Asking Questions During the Meeting

- Please remain muted until we pause for questions and feedback.
- The mute / unmute button can be found in the bottom left of the Zoom bar.

- You may always ask a question using the chat feature, and we will address it when we pause for questions.

Who We Are

Dr. Shafiqul Islam

Professor of Civil and Environmental Engineering & Director of the Water Diplomacy Program

Tufts University

Mr. Kevin Smith

PhD Candidate in Civil and Environmental Engineering & Fellow of the Water Diplomacy Program

Tufts University

Dr. Martina Klimes

Advisor for Water and Peace

Stockholm International Water Institute and the International Centre for Water Cooperation

Dr. Aaron Salzberg

Professor of Environmental Sciences and Engineering & Director of The Water Institute

The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Meeting Agenda

- Opening remarks
- Online resources and the submission process
- Answering your questions and taking your feedback
- Breakout rooms for introductions and networking
- Brief wrap up

Publications per Year That Include 'Water Diplomacy' As Indexed by Google Scholar (1951-2021)

Our Vision for the Handbook

Create an accessible reference for those seeking negotiated resolutions to water conflicts and dialogue opportunities at the transnational, subnational, and community scale.

Many publications address these issues only at a theoretical level, and we see a compelling need for a handbook that is practice-oriented in content, structure, and its approach to theory-practice synthesis.

Professor Larry Susskind

Urban Planning, MIT

Action-Reflection-Adaptation-Public Learning
A Pracademic

Over 50 years of experience and interest in

- Negotiation and Dispute Resolution
- Mediation and Participatory Planning in the Public Arena
- Environmental Planning and Management
- Water Diplomacy
- <https://lawrencesusskind.mit.edu/>

Questions?

Unmute to speak...

...or ask a question using the chat feature.

Online Resources & The Submission Process

- There are many people involved in this project – some have joined since our last meeting.
- We've put together a website to help find important resources and information about the Handbook.
- We hope this site can grow to meet our needs as an online community.

waterdiplomacyhandbook.com

Online Resources & The Submission Process

- The website will have latest resources and information relevant to all contributors – but it is not chapter-specific.
- We are using a tool called Asana to create a space for these details and provide a live view of where your chapter is in the submission process.
- Asana is a shared “to-do list” – the contributors of each chapter and the editors will have a common view of deadlines, progress, and document versions.

Questions?

Unmute to speak...

...or ask a question using the chat feature.

Other Updates

- We are still working on:
 - Negotiating Lower Book Costs
 - Determining Open Access Opportunities for Select Chapters
 - Contribution Agreements
 - Assigning Editors
- What to expect next:
 - You will receive an invitation to Asana (expected week of February 14th)

Questions? Concerns? Feedback?

Unmute to speak...

...or ask a question using the chat feature.

Breakout Rooms

- You will be placed randomly into breakout rooms.
- There is no firm agenda – but the hope is that you will get to know some of the contributors better.
- Consider sharing a bit about yourself, what chapter you are working on, and what motivated you to participate.
- We will bring the groups back when there is 10 minutes left in the hour to take any final feedback from the group.

Closing Remarks

- Thank you for joining us for this important project!
- We are looking for a contributor to give opening remarks at our next meeting.
- If you have ideas for topics and structures for future meetings, please let us know.
- Other feedback is always welcome.

Questions?

Unmute to speak...

...or ask a question using the chat feature.